Description

The starting point of this hike is the Kulturhaus Reith. Cross the bridge of the Reither Ache and follow the signs uphill. A somewhat steeper gravel path follows until you reach a forest on narrow trampling paths. At the next crossing turn right towards Gieringer Weiher.

The pond is a jewel and invites you to stay. For hungry and thirsty hikers there is an inn available.

For the way back home, take the asphalt road towards Giering. Follow the road and turn right into a small forest. Follow the path past the Veiten oak - a quiet place to linger with a beautiful view over Reith. Continue along a small forest path to the village.
